A tender once accepted, the contractor, as provided by Art. 23 of the same Act must give a guarantee, satisfactory to the Commissioners, for 250,000 hard dollars, or deposit said amount in the National Bank in cash or National Bonds at the price of the day.
3rd—The contractors will be bound to take from the Commissioners all the cement and bricks for the works, at 20 hard dollars per thousand bricks and 3.2 hard dollars per 1016 kilogrammes of cement (equal to an English ton) the bricks to be delivered at the stations of the Northern Railway.

5th—The works must be constructed on the same plans and conditions as laid down for the tenders called for in February 1878.
6th—The bidders must bind themselves to finish the works within 20 months, to count from the day on which they receive the orders to begin them, subject to the penalties laid down in the conditions before mentioned, in case of not completing the works within the time specified, or of there being any difference or defect in construction.
7th—The contractors must take over all the materials, implements etc. which the Commissioners bought from Messrs Newman, Medici & Co, on cancelling their contract, and at the price paid by the Commissioners. The inventory of these material etc can be had from the Commissioners Secretary.
8th—Those who intend to send in tenders can obtain every information from the Secretary.
9th—The contractors must send, at their own cost and time, an engineer to superintend the erection of the machinery and buildings, subject to the plans and models the Commissioners may select.

Me es grato comunicar a Vds el resultado satisfactorio del nuevo examen quimico del 'Fluido Little' que acabo de practicar sobre una muestra de este especifico enviada por Vds a este laboratorio el 12 del corr. y fabricado por Morris Little e Hijo en Inglaterra.
Confrontando el analisis de esta muestra con mi analisis del mismo especifico practicado en Febrero de 1879 encuentro un aumento considerable en su grado de concentracion; su densidad es superior, la proporcion de fenoles contenidos en los aceites es mayor, y en una palabra lo considero no solo superior al producto primitivo, sino el mas concentrado y activo de cuantos de su clase he tenido ocasion de examinar hasta la fecha. Esta observacion se refiere, se entiende, esclusivamente a los especificos contra la sarna, que tienen por base los aceites Hidro carburados y fenoles del alquitran y que no deben su eficacia al arsenico, al azufre, o al tabaco, sustancias que no existen en el 'Fluido Little.' Apesar de su mayor concentracion el Fluido se mezcla con el agua fria con la misma facilidad y perfeccion como antes.
Me repito de Vds

REMARKABLE LECTURE.

In commending to our readers the following lecture, recently delivered by one of the most distinguished men in Scotland, we feel certain that our motives will not be misinterpreted. As far as in our power lies, we keep from discussion those burning home topics which are better handled in our native land than here. The British community in the Plate is small, and every dissolving or disuniting influence should be avoided. The lecture which we give at foot is not, therefore, published to excite religious animosities, but to show many of our friends in the River Plate that, in their views on some subjects, many of the greatest men in England, the thinkers of the day, the giants of British intellect, are opposed to them, and that opinions they so glibly condemn find championship in lofty circles, divided from us by persuasion and by ocean:—

THE SCOTTISH COVENANTERS AND THE STATE OF IRELAND.

At the Literary Institute, Edinburgh, on Wednesday, Professor Blackie delivered a lecture 'On the Scottish Covenanters.' There was a large attendance. He had, he said, great pleasure in speaking to them of the Scottish national heroes of the Covenant, because he believed that there were no persons to whom they owed more, and none to whom less justice had been done (applause.) The religious world had done ample justice, and in some quarters more than justice, to the Covenanters, but in the literary world they had never received their proper place. On the contrary, in their West end drawing-rooms, which he sometimes entered—(laughter)—it was not the Covenanters that were besung and bepraised, but the Cavaliers, who had nothing real or noble about them but their loyalty to kings who wished to make Scotchmen the serfs and slaves and flunkies of those south of the Tweed (laughter and applause.) The very smell of Calvinism was hateful to the whole tribe of literary fellows, both in Edinburgh and London' In one of his own books he put some scriptural texts as headings, just to indicate what he would be at; of course these fellows snuffed as if the devil with all his sulphur were underneath (laughter.) The only literary man who had placed the Covenanters where they ought to stand as Scottish men and heroes, was James Dods. The lecturer then gave a sketch of the leading events which occurred between 1560 and 1688—from the time the people exercised the sacred right of revolt down to the glorious Revolution—and commented on the 'rascality' of Charles II. and the 'pig-headedness' of James II. with characteristic vigor. The character of Charles and his Ministers Lauderdale and Middleton the Professor illustrated by displaying an amusing heraldic device, in which were quartered a sword, a key, the 'maiden' and the thumbscrew. The shield was surmounted by a crown, mitre and fool's-cap; the supporters were a tiger and a fox; and the motto, 'Vi et Mendacus.' (By force and by lies.) In order to show who enjoyed the joke, he would put the head of the evil one in the middle of the shield—(loud laughter)—laughing, as they would see, at the whole affair. Speaking of the reason for the persecution, he said that even if Episcopacy had all the divine proofs of being a part of Christianity, which it had not—(applause and slight hissing)—for those who first preached Christianity had a great deal too much sense to waste their time about forms, or the putting of mitres upon the head of Episcopal wise men or Episcopal fools—it would have been right and proper to rebel against receiving it at the dictation of a king who had no more right to tell a man what he was to believe than he had to tell him how to teach the Greek class (laughter.) Accidental reference to church government in the new Testament, he believed, had more to do with Presbyterianism than Episcopacy (applause.) The Indulgence Act, he went on to say, not having been accepted by the men who had been fighting the real battle of the Covenant, persecution was stimulated, and the people in consequence reduced to desperation. They got into the state in which Ireland was just now. Having no protection from the law, and no hope there, they resolved to do justice to themselves. They would declare war partly in the open field, and partly, it might be by assassination. Hence Drumclog and Magus Moor. Now, Magus Moor was just the same thing in those days as the shooting of landlords was just now in Ireland. He did not defend assassination; he did not defend Mr. Parnell, and he did not defend any Irishman who shot a landlord or factor from behind a hedge—(applause)—but he would say to those people, 'you are reaping just what you sowed.' The Duke of Wellington when he was in the Ministry 30 or 40 years ago, said to these landlords, 'Mylords and gentlemen, if you will be so good as to reside on your estates, and look to the people more than to your rents, you will do more good to Ireland than we can do by all the Acts of Parliament we could pass' (applause.) If it had not been for the monstrous system of governing Ireland by confiscation and absenteeism, there would not have been a single good man shot in Ireland at the present moment. And he said also in the same spirit that if Sharp was pulled out of his carriage on Magus Moor and muadered by the Covenanters it served him right (applause.) He thoroughly and cordially sympathised with the murderers. It was the rude revenge of nature; and when the law was not the minister of God for righteousness, but the minister of the devil for lawlessness, he wanted to know why he should be called an assassin for taking the sword in his hand and getting that justice at his own hand that he could not get from the authorities, who ought to give it (applause and some hisses) The Professor then read a short poem he had written some time ago on Magus Moor—the reading being prefaced by the remark that he believed Sharp was a blackguard and a traitor to his country: or, if he was not all that, he was a time-server and a sneak, which was not much better. In the poem are these lines—

Prate not of law and lawyers art
When kingly sin la rife.
The law is in the people's heart
That whets the needful knife.'

He was not ashamed of having written these lines—let any man say he advocated assassination if he pleased. He said again it served Sharp right, and it served all right who used the sacred authority of law for violence and oppression. Incidentally mentioning the name of Beaconsfield, the speaker excited considerable political feeling, which he seemed to enjoy, by declaring that though he was a very clever fellow, posterity would never call Beaconsfield a great man; and, he added, he would rather manage a manageric of wild beasts than be a King of England or Gladstone, the Premier, at this moment. In conclusion he said that though the people in the time of James II. might have swallowed genteel, diluted, modified Popery, in the shape of Episcopalianism—which was very much inclined to give its right hand to the Pope, but would scarcely condescend to look on a poor Presbyterian—they could not stand Popery. The Scotch had a conscience of their own and a religion of their own; and if they had not acted as they did those of the present day would not have been where they were. It was only forty years ago since John Bull—who was naturally an insolent animal—(laughter)—backed up in this case, he was sorry to say, by Saudy, who was a narrow minded, bigoted animal—(loud laughter)—made the concession of the Catholic Emancipation Act—that was, that the Irish were entitled to have a conscience and a religion of their own: and if the Irish had had the good fortune to have had a Bannockburn, a John Knox, and a noble army of Covenanters, they would not have seen Ireland in the condition in which it was just now. England would have respected the liberty and the independence of Ireland, as she had been taught to respect the character, the liberty, and the independence of Scotland. And yet Edinburgh had a monument to whom?—Charles II—(laughter)—and in Parliament Square, too. Oh, if he had the strength of ten hundred giants, he would knock it down. (Applause.) And they had another to George IV.—(ironical laughter)—a fellow with no heart beneath his waistcoat—because, forsooth, he condescended to come down to see if such a place as Scotland existed in the world. (Laughter.) He hoped some day the people of Edinburgh would do justice to the great national heroes by erecting monuments to John Knox and the Covenanters. (Applause.)

ROSARIO.

(From our own Correspondent.)

February 25th

I wonder if it is because the Argentine Gaucho is more poetic than the peasants of other lands that we have such a variety of queer names of places and things in this country. Like the North Americans, the people here have had the good taste to retain a large number of the soft sounding aboriginal names 'Parana Guaza' is as liquid as 'Mississippi.' As languages become more civilized it appears that they become more harsh. But it is not of these I am now speaking. I was calling to mind the readiness with which the gaucho baptizes a locality with some obstreperous name, but which is founded on some local circumstances taking place on the spot. What is strang is that such names should be perpetuated. 'Fraile Muerto' cannot adapt itself to its modern cognomen of Bellville. 'India Muerta,' will remain 'The dead Indian Girl' I suppose. But what is entirely forgotten are the traditions that gave rise to these and many other similar names. Who was the unfortunate Friar who died at Bellville? Was he murdered by the Indians, or did he die a natural death, and was buried by his pious companions at that spot, then a desert pampa? And who was the Indian girl who is commemorated at the point now called 'India Muerta.' Did she die of love or of indigestion after eating too much of stolen mare's meat? Momentous questions never to be satisfactorily answered.

Can be used with COLD WATER. Sole Agents MOORE & TUDOR, Maypu 95 and 127. Beware of imitations and falsification

But of all estrambolical names the gauchos have invented that of 'Venado Tuerto' is the most droll, The 'One eyed Deer.' Now how did that individual deer lose one of his precious eyes? And how was he of such importance as to have a territory named after him? Probably he was a pet of the daughter of the chief: or more probable still he was the Chief himself who had assumed this unenviable 'sobre nombre,' certainly more euphonious, however, than 'Sneaking Fox,' the name of a North American Brave.

Now, what put these ideas into my head was the receipt of a pamphlet with a map or plan of seventy odd leagues of land to be sold on the 5th March, being the identical tract of camp which the Standard has had a good deal to say about lately. Of the value of these lauds you could hardly have said too much. I happened to cross over the northern part of them on one occasion. They are really very rich. Of course at the present time they are better adapted for cattle than sheep, that is for fine sheep; but the valuable experience of Mr Kemmiss shows us how soon hard camp can be turned into fine grass. But from what I have myself seen, and from what people tell me, the camps of Venado Tuerto are not what estancieros call 'hard camps.' There is great variety of grasses in them, which proves that at some former time the Indians must have pastured large herds of cattle on them.

I hope Mr Casey will sell every league on the 5th. An estancia of four squared square leagues of these lands will be a fortune to any one ten years hence; and it is really a pity that such fine lands, in such a central position, should be unpopulated except by Venados Tuertos and ostriches. I wish I could be one of the happy possessors of four square leagues in a ring fence in the One eyed Deer's land.

The weather remains fine and not too warm. The camps are in want of rain, as we have had none for fifteen days. I should not wonder if Jupiter Pluvius intends to be present at Carnaval with his pockets full of Atkinson's pomitos.

In politics we scarcely ever have anything new in this blessed province. It appears natural that the election of a Governor should create some excitement, but it does not. The Governor de facto says 'Let so and so succeed me' and it is so and so; and people are supposed to be satisfied with the choice. The gentleman who is to succeed Dr Iriondo, the Rev. M Zavalla, is now in Rosario, making himself known here, as few people in this town know him even by name.

Please be satisfied with a short letter to-day, I am not up to the mark. Don't let your readers be alarmed. There is nothing serious.

MONTEVIDEO

Dear Standard

South America has long felt a great want; life is too real in this beautiful continent, and romance never crossed the Atlantic. Old countries like the European kingdoms and the Asiatic empires boast a tissue of legends, wonders and extraordinary feats which range in the marvellous and afford to the poet sublime themes, condensed in mathematical sonnets, and adorned with beautiful language. Thus the old Romans wrote and sang the wonders of their mythology and immortalized brooks, rivulets and glens, favorite spots of pleasure of loving fauns and handsome nymphs. The Arabs have their tales of one thousand and one nights; the Germans live in a land, where legends are attached to every castle and to every mountain summit; Ireland has the banshee and the history of her kings, miracles of St. Patrick and the tales of Lough Owel; England and Scotland, although more prosaical, enjoy a fair reputation for romance: but America, alas, where everything is so real, so modern and so artificial, must fall back on some Indian tales; during the last three centuries not a wonder has occurred, not a legend has been composed, and the muse would be mute, but for a vast field offered to imagination in the records of Spain. Verily we are a practical race; as we admire the winding curves of some unknown rivulet, we think of the dredge and the steamboat, we value the picturesque banks according to the yield of cereals, not casting a thought to the scenes those waters may have witnessed, nor to the panorama around which might build the future and reputation of a painter.

Saints do not flourish on this blessed continent, on which Providence has lavished so many favors: the gods and goddesses, the poet and the bard, are ostracised. Goethe would have been a happy man amongst us, but Schiller would never have been a poet had he seen daylight on the banks of the La Plata. The contrast is the more striking when one looks around on the matchless fertility of the soil, on the grandeur of the scenery at the foot of the Cordillera, or on the beautiful orange groves of the interior; no poet, no painter, no bard could wish for happier surroundings but, unfortunately, the struggle for existence has smothered our æsthetical feelings, banished our refined tastes, welcomed the steam-engine and the threshing-machine, turned romance into reality, and deprived us of qualities we can now only acquire after a prolonged existence and mature experience.

It is, therefore, with serious misgivings that I beg to inform you that the goddess of wonders has been settling of late in the vicinity of the Yi, where the fine iron bridge will soon frighten her away. An editor, a divorced husband and an old woman have recently seen a fantastic vision which has infused fear and religious habits into their now reformed life. The vision, as all visions, is a figure draped in white: it is impossible to determine where the cloth was fabricated. Sometimes the figure appears alone: oftentimes it is enlivened by company. The spectre is unanimously proved to be the soul of a man, and it would appear that he is the living likeness of the late lamented Peter Valiente, who was foully murdered on the spot. Two little angels, supposed to be his children, are sometimes seen in his arms. Having been a gaucho, when alive, he cannot abandon the custom of mounting his 'mancarron' and galloping around his grave. As a natural consequence, he carries a facon (a real one?), and in the early morning the evil fruits of early training overcome him and he draws the dreaded weapon against another spectre, both disappearing in the atmosphere after hard fighting.

A good-natured fellow who had had the pleasure of Valiente's acquaintance would not believe the story, and stopped up all night to shake hands with him, like Don Juan with the Comendador. When he came back he was raving mad, saying all the time that the spectre, ghost, or vision was his friend, who had gone to the hot place, and was condemned to wander about his grave for the next nine hundred and ninety-nine years, for a slight 'desgracia' he had committed. The poor fellow is so frightened that he will not sleep alone, and Comandante Laguna has kindly taken charge of him.

This novel feature in the Banda Oriental points to a new departure: before the year is out you may rest assured that several other ghosts will arise; these wonders may bring people to their senses, although the incredulous, sceptical, and indifferent generation of the day treats the matter with utter contempt; the people of Durazno, through the medium of their esteemed journal, are willing to be cross-examined, and several people have already organized a party to visit the apparition. If the case happened in Ireland, the home of ghosts, it would not be very wonderful, but a ghost was never known to appear in this hemisphere before; the only thing of the kind you Porteños have ever seen was Banquo's shade at the Macbeth entertainment some time ago. I once saw a ghost, but then I had dined very well on truffles and some very indigestible pate, made in the Mount. The most remarkable ghost-story is Herschell's, I think: When he was at the Cape, studying the mysteries of the heavens, he remarked several times a lady's white shadow in his room: he called his assistant, and neither one nor the other could explain the phenomenon At last Herschel solved the mystetery; he found out that the apparition was the effect of the moonbeams on a statue in the garden; when the moon rose to a certain height the light fell directly into his apartmen; none but an astronomer would have found it out and neophytes would have believed in ghosts all their lives had they witnessed this apparently singular phenomenon. Many other wonders may be explained in a similar manner, but the people prefer to be coaxed into delusion and do not care to see others pitch over their gods.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The Sud America brings later dates from Europe. The Conference in Constantinople will begin in March. Terrible inundations in France, Grand Exhibition in Milan on May 1st. Boers have asked European Powers to recognise their independence!! (Cruel joke this) Strikes continue in mining districts of England. Thirty six members expelled from House of Commons by force. (We reported this news by telegram three weeks ago.) Frightful snowstorm in North of United States; many rivers frozen, and railways blocked; New York port blocked with ice. Deluge in San Francisco and rivers overflowed.

The first detailed news in London of the fall of Lima was by telegram from Buenos Ayres, published in London Times, 22d Jan.

We say 'hasta Jueves' to our readers this morning, and trust none of them will be reading the Standard on that morning with one eye, owing to a cheap 'pomito.' We hope all will enjoy themselves, and that we may have a good dash of rain before the 'fiesta' is over. It generally rains, be it little or much, during Carnival.

Those who intend doing the truly rural during Carnival had better take a note of the fact that the holiday train from Plaza Constitucion at 1.25 p.m. will run to-morrow and Tuesday, the same as on Sundays.

We give a short summary of the mails by R.M.S. Trent in another column. On scanning the papers to hand it can be seen that the excitement in Ireland is at last subsiding, although the telegram yesterday about the affair in Cork would argue its revival. Mr Parnell and his friends received a most enthusiastic ovation after Judge Fitzgerald discharged the jury, on the foreman informing him that there was no earthly chance of their agreeing. Dublin was illuminated at night. It appears that ten of the jurors were for acquittal and two for convicting, and the Liberal members have moved in the House of Commons that the trial be held over again, as it is certain the traversers would be acquitted. Public opinion at home is rapidly acquiring the conviction that it is not in Ireland alone that Land Reform is indispensably required. Read 'A Remarkable Lecture' in our leading columns.

We read in our colleague the Correo Español (although we seldom see it amongst our exchanges) a most interesting account of the ascent of the Peak of Teneriffe by Miss Esmeralda Cervantes, the great harpist. We should greatly like to have the full account to translate, if our colleague would be so kind.

The Industrial asserts that there is £200,000 worth of iron camp bridges lying rusting away at the Riachuelo. Not knowing, we cannot say if this be a fact, but it is a pity if it is.

Several small traders complain that there is a very unpleasant rise this year in the valuations on which the amount of their Municipal patentes is based.

The surveyors of the railway extension to Salta have had to abandon their labours for a time, owing to the tremendous rains up there; and further, every engineer and man of the party has been attacked by the dreaded 'chucho,' the scourge of those regions. The survey will be resumed next winter.

The 'pomito' market is so frightfully damped in Rosario that the local auctioneers are now selling them by the thousand dozen under the hammer.

The Bill for a Tramway from Ensenada to Magdalena and Altamirano was finally passed in the Provincial Chamber of Deputies on Friday. We hope this tramway will have better luck and receipts than the Quilmes and San Vicente lines.

We are requested to state that it will not be possible to use S. John's Anglican Church for Divine Service on Ash-Wednesday.

The Mexican papers report a fatal duel between two bullock-cart drivers. They fought with their goads; both died on the spot, and the girl they fought about hanged herself on the nearest tree when she heard the news. A pleasant affair.

M Bœuf, the French naval officer who has been engaged to take charge of the Escuela Naval, is coming out with Count Amelot de Chailleu and will be here this week.

We hear that President Roca has dismissed his Escort, as an unnecessary charge on the Treasury. Well done.

The unfortunate and eloquent meeting of this day week in the Retiro received the crowning crack on the head yesterday. The Actualidad of Lima publishes a protest from the leading Italians in that city, stating that the whole story about an Italian Legion is a pure invention. Did you ever? Well, hardly ever.

The children's fancy ball at the Florida Gardens on Friday night was about the most brilliant affair we ever witnessed in this city of fetes and 'funciones.' All description of the scene must fall short of the reality. Owing to the great throng and the want of high platform seats for the ladies, hundreds who came late were unable to catch a glimpse of the truly bewitching scene of 4 or 500 little children, dressed in the most fantastic form, dancing under the canopy. Young and tender as most of the children were, they all danced with the precision of a dancing master. Kings, courtiers, queens, duchesses, milk maids, warriors, troubadours, knights-templar, crusaders, Hamlets, Othellos, flower girls, Juliets, Desdémonas, Sonambulas, Normas, Kathleen Mavourneens, all danced to the music, whilst the infant son of Don Juan Cruz Varela rode, dressed as the Great Napoleon, on a 'petizo' through the parterre. All the ladies of Buenos Ayres mustered so strong, that the question was, who remained at home. President Roca, with his little son dressed as Sir Walter Raleigh, was there, moving about in the crowd in the most intensely democratic fashion. Ministers and brokers, Generals, Captains, editors auctioneers etc, were met everywhere; a thousand of the prettiest women to be found here or elsewhere sauntered through the Gardens and elbowed their way through the promenade. The band of music on one side, fireworks on the other, the cheers and laughter of the fancy-dressed children, the 'frou-frou' of the ladies' dresses, and the songs of the children as they passed to and fro, formed a scene which in this dull world is not often met with, and when once witnessed is never to be forgotten. It is, of course, impossible to give the names of all the little children, but of the few that we recognized, we mention:—Miss Mitchell, Cinderella-Dr. Wilde's two sons, cavaliers—Julia Ramirez, oficial de marina—Adela Nichel, zingarella—Melaine Toledo, folie—Horacio Montes de Oca, torero—Cora Fontana, aldeana—Carlos Carreras, Luis XVI—Angel Casares, marinero—Ventura Zavaleta, Egipcia—Anita Nevares, Aldeana Romana—Maria Miñones, Fausto; Dolores Victoria, D. The steamers for Montevideo yesterday evening were literally packed with passengers going down to enjoy Carnival and a few days bathing, and the agents were all knocked up with pains in their back and arms from the exertion of receiving so much money. We never saw such an exodus before. As many, or more, people are expected up from Montevideo this morning, to pass Carnival here.

The heat yesterday was enough to melt the stoutest heart or hat; several of the latter gave way under it and shrivelled up. The mercury in the thermometer rose out of sight of anything less far-seeing than Lord Rosse's telescope.

A coachman in Calle Moreno tried the proverbially dangerous experiment of taking a bone from a dog (a big Newfoundlander) the other day, and is now in Hospital, with every probability of having one of his arms amputated,

A torpedo launch has arrived at Montevideo for the Argentine Government. It is built by Yarrow and goes 22 knots per hour. Two more launches of 23 knots per hour are on the way out.

A colleague publishes a most agreeable bit of news of which we knew nothing before, viz., that it is proposed to pay the members of the Municipality in future. In these hard times everything is a help.

The Provincial Bank will be open till 3 o'clock to-morrow, so it will not be altogether a holiday in business circles.

Gold ruled much firmer than yesterday afternoon, and it is really remarkable how, spite of the heavy sales of one of the largest holders of gold in this market, prices did not give way more. It is very generally said that people are selling gold cash and buying back for end of March at a profit of from 10 to 15 cents and the month's interest on the paper money; the business allows a fair profit for those who have the gold. There is, however, a very general impression in the market that after Carnival Minister Gorostiez will do something definite about the loan; any action in this matter must necessarily affect gold. Prices as firm as a rock all day at 29.25, and the cash sales amounted to 210,349. For Monday close on half a million sold, and for March 220,000 at 29.10, closing at 29.15.

Cedulas rule short for the liquidation, and hence advanced, selling up to 90⅝ and closing at 90⅜.

National Bank shares were pressed by the bears and gave way; opening at 77⅛ and closing at 77½, and for end of month at 77.

There is a great hegira for Montevideo to-night, and spite of the charges of Corso and Carnival crowds leave to-night for Montevideo, there being far greater charms down there.

We call attention to our letter from Rosario in another column, and the testimony of our correspondent as to the real qualities of the Venado Tuerto camps. We had no idea they knew in Rosario so much about the land.

Advices from San Nicolas report the English engineers out surveying the new railway from that town to Junin, Pergamino and Melincue, and evidently to be extended to Gainza. At the Roach banquet up there the Governor-elect drank success to the enterprize, and Mr Lloyd, the engineer, responded, promising the quick termination of the works, if the Governor of Buenos Ayres supported properly the enterprize.

Gold at afternoon rumbled, and sales were made at 4 o'clock for Monday at 29.15, and gold remained over unsold.

Nat. Bank Shares recouped and were sold for March at 76, and for Monday 75½. On Wednesday the dividend 3 pats silver per share will be paid to the shareholders, which is a great lift to this stock. A leading and influential party gave it as his opinion that on the opening of Congress this stock would rule from 65 to 90, as it appears some very important projects about the Bank are on the tapis.

Owing to Monday being the last day of the month the Bolsa and Banks will be open; the London and River Plate Bank will be open till 3 o'clock.

Messrs Ebbeke & Dickelmann's furniture auction on next Friday, at Dr Laussen's 68 Calle Suypacha, promises to be well attended, as there are many articles of rare worth to be sold; an original picture by Puyrredon, a large oil painting representing a vessel in a heavy sea, by the celebrated painter Rasmussen. The furniture is, as is well-known in foreign circles, the very best, and all will be sold without the slightest reserve.

Respecting the Venado Tuerto land auction which is so much the theme of conversation, a very sharp rejoinder to the Cordova Government protest will be found in our advertisement columns.

Messrs Wissner and Chapeaurouge in their wheat report say, arrivals for week 19,352 fan and 18,080 ar. The arrivals of wheat have so much increased that prices weakened, some river lots sold 162–170 per fan. 9 ar. Flour, large quantities expected down, Rosario 30 31. The following important advices about sheepskins arrived by the mail—

"Liverpool, Jan. 24th, 1881.

"In reply to your enquiry the present position of the R. Plate sheepskin market was only partly exemplified at the auctions on the 12th instant, for the quantity sold was really too little to thoroughly establish quotations. According to the prices paid, a good lot of Buenos Aires matadero skins, full-woolled, averaging not more than 100 to 105 lbs. per dozen, was 8 per lb. round, but, in the circumstances, we should think 7¾d per lb. would be enough to quote for safety. The home trade of this country is undoubtedly getting better, and there is a cheerful feeling in the fine woollen districts, but, with the large supplies of colonial wools, to be available shortly, and the rather poor accounts from the continent, we expect our home consumers will be able to supply themselves freely at late rates, and if any improvement in value is to come it can only be later on in the year."

So many cases of protests &c. have arisen of late, arising out of the sales of lands adjoining the limits of this province, Santa Fe and Cordoba, that unless it be the wish of the rulers of the country to let one thousand square leagues of the finest land in South America lie idle, an end must be put to this dispute, which in the hands of a couple of land surveyors could be settled in a few weeks. We all know by this of the tide in our farming affairs which is bearing with it our sheep and cattle farmers to the outside camps, leaving the inside partidos for agricultural labor; that tide has set in so strong that it requires but a good crop of lino, wheat, maize and mani next season to oust every flock of sheep from all the lands within 30 leagues of this city. In former years the farmers were deprived of the outside lands by the Indians, and it would be really too bad if now that the Indians are conquered, the Cordovese and Santa Fecino Governments should take take their place and by their endless squabbles as to the boundary lines of their respective provinces keep the farmers from lands that might support all the stock of these inside partidos. There must be some power and some authority in this county to restrain Provincial Governors from the insane course they are at present pursuing. We know of several estancias in this province which would have been wire fenced last year, but for the claim of Sta. Fe for these very lands that the province of Buenos Aires sold and got the money for. We may tear up all our title deeds and fling them into the fire, if this thing is allowed any longer to go on; it stops foreign capital coming to us for the best of all purposes, our land. Only the other day we announced the formation of an English Company in London to buy 400 square leagues of Sta. Fe land, perhaps before the deeds are signed there will be a protest from Cordoba or Santiago del Estero. With regard to the 'Venado Tuerto' land auction, we are well pleased to see that the auction will be proceeded with. Mr Casey is in possession of the land and can give to buyers at the auction immediate possession, and as the titles will be guaranteed by Mr Casey. Mr Gilmour, of Liverpool, the Government of Sta. Fe and the Provincial Bank of Sta. Fe, there can be little doubt all who want the lands will buy the Venado Tuerto on such titles, notwithstanding the Cordoba Government and its protest. The wonder is that Cordoba, as she claims half of Lincoln and Rojas, does not also take in Bragado and Arrecifes.

Our Boca Correspondent gives the following:—

Lincoln crosses continue in much estimation in Antwerp, as we learn to-day from Messrs Gibson Bros. that at the last auctions opening 19th ult., while there was a fall in mestiza of about 10 centimes from late sales by private, 2½ to 5 centimes were offered over highest valuations for their crosses, which were called 'special' wools, and they made sales that day up to 2.45, a good primera mestiza 30 yield being same day at 1.70 to 1.75. We learn from Mr G. they are breeders of creole flocks crossed with Lincoln mestizo tups, and of Pampa creole flocks crossed same way, as well as of the usual Lincoln cross, the object being to produce a breed fitter for some low ground puestos than the mestiza, and the result has been a complete success; even to hundreds of lambs in the flood of 1877 wading and swimming through a mile of water without loss, and that in winter! (This particular case was one of the Pampa creole Lincoln cross flocks.) Moreover the wools of same sell as high as the usual Lincoln cross. The hardiness of the lambs, and what is the same thing the good increase, of Lincoln crones generally is apparent from what Mr G. tells us, that in the late severe winter they came out of it in September, after the severe snow and wind storm, with an increase of 24,400 head from 12th May previous, the figures being, namely, both all that walked, 87,540 and nearly 112,000, and after covering a consumo (with 56 puestos) of 56o a month.

El Sabado 5 de Marzo
A las 2 p.m.

Remataremos a la mas alta postura y sin limites de ninguna clase, los nombrados campos, conocidos por el Venado Tuerto, situados sobre la frontera de Buenos Aires y Santa Fe, distando nada mas que 60 leguas de la Capital 15 leguas de Rojas, 5 de la Teodelina (de Alvear), 15 del Pergamino y 20 del Rosario.

Dista de las Estancias de los Sres. Gahan, Casey, Brown, Elm, Morgan y otros como 5 a 7 leguas.

Dichas estancias han costado casi todas de $360,000, a $500,000 la legua, y se garante que sus pastos no son mejores que los campos que se vendon.

El ramal del Ferro Carril del Oeste que va al Pergamino y estara concluido en 15 meses cuando mas, pondra estos campos a un dia de viaje de Buenos Aires.

Estos campos son verdaderamente esplendidos y han sido visitados hace muy poco tiempo por un numero de hacendados y personas inteligentes que los reputan de primera calidad.

Hay muchas personas que creen que los campos virgenes o de pastos fuerte son de la misma calidad; es un gran error que ha costado mucho dinero a algunos pobladores.

Los campos al Sur de Venado Tuerto que lo forman los partidos de Lincoln, 9 de Julio, etc, son mas o menos arenosos llenos de medanos y nunca seran campos de primera calidad. Los al Norte no son arenosos pero en campio muy duros y casi imposible de refinar, mientras que los campos que ofrecen en venta son de tierra negra, pastos inmejorables con grandes cañadones, hermosas lagunas y lomadas, seis medanos.

Son campos que admiten 2000 vacas y dos majadas de ovejas por cada legua cuadrada y no son unicamente para cria de vacas, sino tambien para engorde.

Como tenemos orden terminante de vender todo el campo sin reserva alguna y siendo muy probable que por ser una area tan grande no se consiga la mitad del valor de estos campos, queremos llamar muy especialmente la atencion de los senores hacendados sobre su importancia.

Podemos asegurar desde ya, que la mayor parte de los compradores seran estancieros irlandeses y es sabido de todos que donde van esos pioneers de la ganaderia, los campos pronto dublican su valor.

Prueba de ello son los campos del Norte y Oeste de esta provincia, donde han pagado de 1½ a 2 millones por legua y todo el mundo decia que eran locuras; mientras tanto quienes son los hombres de fortuna en el pais?

Tenemos la firme conviccion que una vez que esten poblados estos campos y una parte alambrados, que lo sera antes de seis meses, no se podra comprar alli una legua por menos de 400,000 m/c.

Las condiciones de la venta son:

50,000 al contado y el resto a 1, 2 y 3 anos de plazo con interes del Banco de la Provincia o con diez por ciento de descuento haciendo el pago al contado.

Se vendera en lotes de una legua con opcion a mas, al gusto de los compradores.

Los planos estaran a disposicion de los interesados, desde el 12 del corriente en nuestra casa Alsina no. 78.

NOTA IMPORTANTE—La venta se efectuara aqui en nuestra casa Alsina 78, despues de un esplendido lunch que ofreceremos a nuestros favorecedores y al efecto deberan munirse de la correspondiente tarjeta de admision, sin la cual no podra tener acceso al local del remate. Siendo limitado el numero de tarjetas [100] pedimos ocurran con tiempo por ellas.

The Trent's Mails.

London, Jan. 24th.

The surrender of the garrison of Lydenburg was so generally anticipated that it can scarcely be considered as a new misfortune to our arms. It might have to be announced a little sooner or a little later. But it has from the commencement of the outbreak been regarded as almost certain that the isolated garrisons of Lydenburg, Wakkerstroom, and Standerton must surrender before help could arrive. The commanders of these posts had but a very short time to prepare for a siege, and could not have collected provisions for a three months' blockade.

Hitherto there can be no doubt that, in spite of the efforts of the Colonial authorities to make the best of the matter, the Basutos have had very much the best ot it in their engagements with the Colonial forces, who have not shown to much advantage in this campaign.

The project to send a Brigade of Dutch Volunteers to the Transvaal seems to be given up. Its supporters have now decided to co-operate with the Purmerend Transvaal League, which has no significatiou at all.

The Austrian papers announce that the yacht Miramare has been fixed upon for the Crown Prince Rudolph for his eastern cruise. He is to embark at Brindisi.

According to the Frankfurter Zeitung, Verdi is at present busy composing his Otello. It is to be given first at Vienna, Frau Materna taking the part of Desdèmena.

In the Lippe-Schaumburg forest at Turba, in Hungary, a peculiar animal was recently shot, which was at first supposed to be a very powerful fox. The Vienna zoologists however, have shown that it is a cross between a wolf and a fox. Its form is that of a fox, but it has the colour of a wolf.

STATE OF IRELAND.

Dublin, Jan. 27th.

The London papers publish the following—

The prosecutions of Land Leaguers in the provinces are proceeding with great activity, and in some instances with speedy punishmeut to the offenders. In other cases, however, the defendants have been sent for trial at quarter sessions or the assizes and admitted to bail; and it is doubtful whether convictions will be obtained. But even in such cases, at least a temporary check is given to lawlessness, and the people are reminded of the risk they incur in violating the law. At Thurles Petty Sessions, yesterday, Stephen Butler, Poor-law guardian and chairman of the Holy-cross branch of the Land League, was, with some other farmers, charged with heading a mob of seven or eight hundred men, who on the 26th ot December last were guilty of riot and intimidation at Farney Castle, the residence of Mr and Mrs Armstrong. It was proved in evidence that 30 years ago a tenant on the Armstrong property named Long owed arrears of rent amounting to £200, which the landlord forgave him on his surrendering the farm. Notwithstanding the length of time which has elapsed, the Land League demanded that the farm should be given back to Long's granddaughter. The landlord refused to comply, and an indignation meeting was held. During the hearing of the case, it was evident from the levity of some of the defendants that they looked upon the affair as a joke, but on the Chairman (the Hon. M J French, R.M.) announcing that the magistrates determined to send them for trial at the assizes, without bail, their surprise was very marked. Extra police were drafted into the town, and the prisoners were conveyed under a strong escort to the county gaol at Nenagh,

Much interest is excited by the prosecutios of the Rev. Dr Gowring P.P., the Rev. J M'Crea, his curate, and other members of the Killard lough and Rathmore branch of the Land League, for unlawfully combining and conspiring together for the purpose of coercing Lord Mayo to dismiss his agent, Mr Rynd, D.L. The case will come on for hearing at Naas Petty Sessions to-morrow.

The witnesses examined in a recent prosecution at Maryborough against eight traders who were charged with intimidating shopkeepers to join the Land League and to subscribe to its funds, have signed a protest in which they allege that they were not intimidated but subscribed voluntarily. It may be remembered that although they gave evidence to the same effect at the time, the magistrates sentenced the defendants to pay a fine of £20, or be sent to gaol for three months, but accepted bail, and notice ot appeal has been given. Attention has been drawn to the case in Parliament.

The state of the counties Kerry, Clare, and Limerick was brought incidentally under the notice of the Lord Chancellor upon an application to discharge the receiver over the Macgillicuddy estates. Counsel on behalf of one of the parties who has a beneficial interest objected on the ground that there were two-and-a-half years' arrears of rent due, and if the receiver were discharged they could not be collected in the present state of the country. The Lord Chancellor thought the receiver might be retained for the purpose of collecting the rents without prejudice to the parties intended, and m9de an order to that effect.

In the Queen's Bench Division the same subject was considered. Coudsel in the case of Lord Kenmare v. Ryan, applied to the Lord Chief Justice and Mr Justice OBrien for an order to substitute service of the writ of summons. The plaintiff's agent hade made an affidavit that he had sent the writ to a bailiff named Reardon to be served, and that Reardon had returned the writ unexecuted, stating that if he at tempted to get it served there would be bloodshed and murder even though there were a full regiment of Her Majesty's troops at his back.

A farmer named Murphy was committed for trial to-day, bail refused, for taking forcible possession of a farm at Kilmallock, Limerick. Four companies of soldiers and 100 police have been dratted to Kilmallock to protect the prosecutor, who is agent of the property.

At the Ballingarry Petty Sessions yesterday Mr O'Callaghan, a respectable farmer, was charged with keeping illegal possession of Ashborough-house and farm, of which he was put into forcible possession on the 8th December. The case was returned for trial, bail being accepted.

The Land League meeting and counter-demonstration announced to be held in Segaban, county Armagh, yesterday, were prohibited by a proclamation of the magistrates. About 200 persons assembled in Ogle street, Armagh, in the evening to hear Mr Davitt and improvise a meeting in lieu of the one proclaimed, but a force of 50 constabulary and a company of the 84th Regiment arrived. After waiting for an hour the people were informed that Mr Davitt was suffering from fatigne and had also letters to write and would reserve his address for a meeting at Kinnege to-day, which has also been forbidden.

The Gazette of this evening contains a proclamation of the Lord Lieutenant prohibiting a Land League meeting announced to be held on Sunday at Balla, on the ground that his Excellency has reason to believe, from information on oath which he received, that the meeting is called for the purpose of denouncing and intimidating certain of Her Majesty's subjects in the neighbourhood,

Throughout the county of Clare on Friday the police were engaged in posting notices announcing that the county was proclaimed. It is stated that the meetings of the Lnnd League will shortly be suspended by the authorities. With the view of commemorating the expedition of Ulstermen who relieved Captain Boycott at Lough Nask, a silver medal has been struck, to be presented to those who took part in the expedition.

Mr Macdonogh, Q.C., the leading counsel for the defence in the trial of the members of the Irish Land League at Dublin, constitutes an interesting link with the past history of Ireland, since he was one of the junior counsel for the defence in the O'Connell case in 1844. The only other survivor of these counsel is the present Lord O'Hagan.—Solicitors' Journal.

Buenos Ayres, 18 de Febrero de 1881.
SR. D. MIGUEL PUIGGARI, Presente.
Muy Señor mio,
Conviniendo a mis intereses saber si los Pomos de mi fabricacion son o no comprendidos en las denuncias que se han hecho en los periodicos de haber producido varios pomos efectos nocivos a alguna persona, le mando una cantidad de pomos de estaño y de plomo preparados en estos ultimos tiempos, para que se sirva decirme despues del analisis correspondiente, si los considera o no perjudiciales en el uso que suele hacerse de ellos.
Agradecere se digne contestarme al pie de la presente.
De vd. muy A. y S.S.
G. A. CRANWELL.

SR DON G. A. CRANWELL,
Muy Señor mio,
En virtud del deseo manifestado por vd. en el que precede, debo decirle que los pomos de estaño no ofrecen observacion alguna respecto a su calidad. Por lo que toca a los de plomo, en algunos he observado una debil reaccion caracteristica de este metal, pero tan insignificante que no considero de ningun modo puedan considerarse perjudiciales.
Deseando con esto haber satisfecho los deseos de vd. me repito S. A. y S. S.
